

LIGNA fair in Hanover 30.5. – 3.6.2011

Making more out of wood....

The World Fair for the Forestry and Wood Industries, called LIGNA takes place in Hanover every two years. This year we experience the exhibition under the motto: "Making more out of wood." The Fair 2011 is divided into three major topics: "Industrial Surface Finishing technologies and light weight construction", "Bioenergy from Woods" and "Crafts, wood and more".

As usual you can find us again at the fair this year, however, in Hall 15 on Stand B12.

Also this time we will produce a lot of chips at our booth! Become a witness if our technicians try "Drilling blue" our Bormax. If you can not believe what you see, just try it yourself!

Always fascinating are the results of the boreholes with carbide-tipped multi-purpose hole saws!

Thanks to the high-quality Carbide Tipped, drill these robust hole saws not only in wood and panel materials but also in plaster boards, tiles and bricks.

As well-known, the best at last: Remove the core in less than 5 seconds and without any tools and bloody finger!

This year our main focus of the demonstration will be in addition to the MP-hole saws our entire product range of Bormax. Do you know all Bormax versions?

Not? Then visit us at the show and take a look at our demonstration or in the new FAMAG catalog which we will present beside the really big drilling chips, too!

We look forward to you and your tricky bore application! Many things you can try it at our booth. If your application is too complicated to try it out at our stand, you will learn in a conversation with us a new inspiration that will facilitate the drilling operation in the future!

Because you know, for „making more out of wood“ it needs quality tools made in Germany!
